K. Bell stops selling of socks on which Shri Lakshmi Mata is printed

O Hindus, Let us pay gratitude to God for this success !

A few days ago, Hindu Janajagruti Samiti received information from Forum for Hindu Awakening (FHA) that some websites selling K.bell manufactured socks which has Goddess Lakshmi images printed on them.

HJS published this news recently and asked devout Hindus to protest lawfully against the manufacturer and website owners who were selling these products on internet.

Accordingly many devout Hindus wrote to the K. Bell and website owners to remove the denigrating socks from their websites. In reply they not only got prompt response, the manufacturer appreciated the email for letting them know about the denigration and assured to be sensitive to Hindus religious sentiments in the future. The below websites also removed the socks with Goddess Lakshmi images.

Following websites removed denigratory products :

1. Sweet Dreams - <http://stores.sweetdreamscandyandtoys.com/-strse-182/Women's-Socks--dsh--Goddess/Detail.bok>
2. Socks Smith - <http://www.socksmith.com/sockshop/kbell-goddess-fortune-p-728.html>
